

LAURA RAU
MEMBER-AT-LARGE

Laura Rau is the Director of Sacred Music for Christ the King Catholic Church in Omaha. In this role, she helps children, youth, and adult volunteers reach their highest potential in music making so that the wider parish community may be formed by excellence in sacred music. She plans music for all worship services, directs rehearsals and music theory lessons for children and adults in the parish choirs, prepares high school cantors to lead congregational singing, and accompanies Masses for the parish and school.

She previously held positions at St. Michael the Archangel Catholic Church (Leawood, KS), St. Lawrence Catholic Campus Center (Lawrence, KS), and Basilica of the Sacred Heart (Notre Dame, IN).

She studied at Wichita State University (Bachelor of Music), University of Notre Dame (Master of Sacred Music), and the University of Kansas (Doctor of Musical Arts).
